Overview

PSD Preview automatically creates thumbnails of PSD images attached to JIRA issues. These thumbnails are displayed in either a custom attachments panel (PSD Preview hides JIRA's attachments panel and replaces it with an identical panel that also displays PSD thumbnails) or a separate panel dedicated to PSD thumbnails.

Configuration

PSD Preview has two operating modes:

1. Attachments Panel Replacement
  - a. This is the default operating mode, in which JIRA's attachment panel is replaced with an identical panel that also displays PSD thumbnails.
2. Separate Panel
  - a. In this mode, a separate panel is added to display PSD thumbnails alongside the standard JIRA attachments panel.

The PSD Preview operating mode can be specified in configuration, accessible via JIRA's UPM.
