

Columns and Views

A view defines which columns are displayed in Structure and in what configuration.

The following sections will show you how to customize your columns and views to provide exactly the information you need.